CANDY, COCKTAILS, AND CONVERSATION

Bespoke furniture manufacturer Jonathan Charles launches a new collection of bedroom, living, and dining room furniture in collaboration with designer Calvin Churchman. Debuting at Spring 2018 High Point Market, Churchman & Co. by Jonathan Charles is Calvin's vision, bringing sixteen years of design experience as the former Vice President of Home Furnishings Design at Ralph Lauren, overseeing development of over one hundred furniture collections. Inspired by Picasso, Chanel, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and their circle, and travel on the great ocean liners of the period, the collection transports you to the 1920's and 30's, living a life of luxury in Paris, New York, or London. With Art Deco, Edwardian, and Ming Dynasty influences, the pieces are appropriately scaled to stay true to the furniture from the era.

"Paris in the 1920's was the cultural epicenter, from a burgeoning couture presence to the emergence of new art and decorating movements. My vision was to bring a romantic element which is now rarely visible in home furnishings. I wanted to evoke a sense of grandeur and stimulate conversation in the style of the great salons."

A process over a year in the making, Calvin and the design team at Jonathan Charles collaborated to execute the design aesthetic using the company's vast technical craftsmanship techniques – intricate marquetry, precision carvings, gilding – to add their signature flair to the designer's collection. From hand painted Chinoiserie and floral motifs in saturated hues, tea stained to resemble the original antiques, to a glossy black lacquered Louis Phillipe trestle desk with turned wood and shiny brass details, the Spring 2018 collection imbues a fantastical sensibility.
